Bethesda store reporter

By Dan Schere Follow @Daniel_Schere | Published: 2020-03-02 18:40 Lego store opens at Bethesda's Westfield Montgomery Shopping Center this summer Photo via Twitter a Lego store coming to Westfield Montgomery Mall The Lego store is coming to Westfield Montgomery Shopping Center in Bethesda this summer, a mall spokesman confirmed Monday. Lego, which tells intertwining plastic toys, has retail stores elsewhere in the Washington area, including Tysons Corner, Pentagon City and Potomac Mills in Northern Virginia. Mall spokeswoman Karla Saravia said Monday afternoon that construction on the store is just beginning. We don't have an exact date for this point, he said of the opening. In the coming weeks, Lego will replace womenswear store Patrizia Luca, who will move to the upper ethnest of the mall over the Apple store in the coming weeks, Saravia said. Lego's preliminary arrival in Montgomery County was first reported by store reporter. The Wellness Center chain, recognized by Inc. magazine for its growth as Rehab 2 Perform, a Maryland-based chain of physiotherapy-focused wellness centers, has been recognized in business publication Inc. as one of the fastest growing private companies in Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Rehab 2 Perform offers individual sessions to clients with a physiotherapist to treat ankle sprains, shoulder dislocation, hamstring bets and ACL injuries. Physiotherapists also treat concussion symptoms, according to the company's website. The company has four facilities, including in Bethesda and Germantown. There were 250 companies on the magazine's list. Rehab 2 Perform ranked 57th, with growth of 193% between 2016 and 2018, according to the magazine's rankings. The companies named on the list will be honored at the D.C. Metro Summit & Awards on March 3. 16 (UPI) -- Hook Hall in Washington, D.C. Maryland's Couture Bridal is moving to Gaithersburg Couture Bridal of Maryland, a full-service boutique bridal store that sells dresses and offers changes, has moved to Olde Towne Gaithersburg from the city's Downtown Crown retail district. The store posted on its Facebook page over the weekend that it had moved to 322 E. Diamond Ave. The message contained a picture of Mayor Jud Ashman at the store along with the city's testimony declaring february 28th. Couture was previously at 111 Crown Park Ave. Couture Bridal, which opens at noon Tuesday on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday and 10 a.m.m Saturdays. It closes on Tuesday and Thursday at 7.m pm, Wednesday and Friday at 6.m pm and Saturday and Sunday at 5.m. The store is closed on Mondays. Under-ansche Black Friday shopping is certainly different this year, with most stores remaining closed on Thanksgiving night for the first time recently. If you plan to visit Westfield Montgomery over the weekend, check the mall website before leaving. There you will find an online calculator for real-time capacity upgrades, ensuring that shopping mall traffic remains within the limits set by the province. Individual shops also monitor visitors, so you may have to wait your turn to go inside. If the kids want to visit Santa Claus, they need time and a mask. Meanwhile, here are a couple of new places to spend your holiday budgets: the Lego store, which opened last month, has plenty of quarantine-perfect family projects: Beatles wall art, Stranger Things vigder and tons of stuff for Star Wars fans. The Amazon 4-Star, a recent addition to the lower level of the mall, is a one-stop shop for everything from dishes, technology and toys to games, books and art supplies. Elite Jewelers is now open on another level near Macy's Home with a wide range of diamonds, gemstones and fancy watches. Recently opened on nordstrom's wing, BrookieGirl is a bath and body shop owned by a local entrepreneurial family. You can find it on the lower level near Forever 21. See's Candies is back for the holidays — this time inside the former Bose store. All but the water that went dark at the beginning of the pandemic made a surprise return in nordstrom's wing this week at a store full of swimsuits, hats and beach gear. Huge news for Pike & Rose's dining scene: Call Your Mother, a quirky deli following the cult, moves in. This is another MoCo location D.C.-based chain that also operates a mobile wagon in Bethesda. Call Your Mother is known for high-end pretzels and offbeat twists on classic sandwiches. (Pastrami Sun City has eggs, cheese and spicy honey; Banyan Place has bacon, jalapeños and slaw; and Gleneagle contains cucumbers and caneed salmon cream cheese.) The doors should open next spring in the space just cleared by the Lucky store. Brooklyn-based sportswear chain J. McLaughlin has opened its doors in time for holiday shopping in Wildwood. And the restaurant scene took a surprise detail this week when Le Pain Quotidien, who has been in the dark since spring, made an unexpected comeback. This is yet another victory for Wildwood, where business seems to be booming despite the pandemic. Corbyn mazza galleries. But Hadlee will be a little less conservative than the other three stores, says company spokeswoman Julianne Pulvriteri. The look comes very colorful, lots of fingerprints and patterns. Another Wildwood boutique opens next month Also on the way to Wildwood stores is Cocco Blanca, which offers a toned mix home accessories, jewellery and clothing. The entire store has a coconut palette with a little black and a splash of turquoise, says co-owner Susan Neithamer. He and his business partners, who have another Cocco Blanca store in Alexandria's Old Town, had been looking for a mall with a similar demographic and plenty of space to park. Many of our old town customers had been coming all the way to us from Bethesda, so we knew this was an area with buyers like us, says Neithamer. The doors are expected to open next month. Toys 'R Us leaving NYC? If you're going to New York for spring break with kids next week, note: This could be your last chance to visit the iconic Toys R Us store in Times Square. A struggling toy retailer says it may not renew a 15-year-old store lease with a giant Barbie house and a 20-metre inner wheel. The lease expires next year. Still 't find out: Will Toys R Us find a new, smaller home in the Big Apple. Win a gift card for Cava Mezze Grill Hometown favorite Cava Mezze Grill, which plans to head west after this week's $16 million cash merger of a Virginia private equity firm. Two Los Angeles locations will open later this year - Cava's first expansion outside the D.C. area, where it currently has eight eateries with three more to come. The investment money will also expand Cava's id and distribution lines to grocery stores. We don't have $16 million , but we happen to have a $25 Cava Mezze Grill gift card for one lucky Store Reporter reader. You want to put your name on our hat? Click here to enter via email (subject line: Cava Grill) or click here to enter via our Facebook page. Update: Store Reporter reader Kelly Rudolph Pashkoff won this award. Stay tuned in store reporter for upcoming contests. Sponsored Content Bye Bye to Be well If you shopped at Walgreens this week, you may have noticed that annoying is doing well! greetings are not available at checkout. Two years after the company began forcing its employees to use these words, the campaign is finally over. Walgreens says it is now looking for other ways to build relationships with its customers – possibly by thanking them by name after each event. (As: Ingest acid reflux drugs, Mr. Jones.) We can't wait to get a reaction to that. What's blooming at the mall this spring New stores and restaurants are blooming at Westfield Montgomery Mall this spring — and so is some lovely lighting and floral decorations celebrating the National Cherry Blossom Festival. Stop by the mall information center for a free gift, download the festival's smartphone app for merchant discounts (click here) and learn more about what spring brings to the mall. Naples, Cold Stone, Yum Crepes soon - and Tara Thai's on her way to Naples, a fancy Italian restaurant overlooking the mall dining terrace, is finally ex ev will be opened at the end of April after many months of construction delay. Also on the way in the next month or two: Cold Stone Creamery, Yum Crepes and Chloe's NY Style Deli. Elsewhere in the mall, Cleo's Oil Bar will start pouring gourmet samples next week (click here for more). And Tara Thai has announced plans to join the mall's dining selection - the opening day and location further TBA. (We are investing in a long-free Legal Sea Foods space.) Preppie clothing, men's shoes and sportswear The big names arriving on the Fashion Front this spring are preppie favorite Vineyard Vines and men's shoe retailer Johnston &amp; Murphy. Both stores are under construction in the Nordstrom wing of the mall (click here for more in the February 5 issue). Another recent addition, in the former Sitara space near the Old Navy, is the D.C area sportswear chain V1*P. This is for fans of brands such as Helly Hansen, Burton, Marmont and Patagonia. More coffee and tea on the way Mall shoppers will soon have even more ways to caffeinate: Peet's café is under construction on the Sears wing, while newcomer Rumi Tea and Spice is opening a shop on a lower level near Macy's. It is already on premises in addition to the coffee and tea shops on the premises: Starbucks, Aroma, Teavana and Nordstrom Beverage Bar. Spring cleaning: who's gone, who goes Here there are a few mall retailers who didn't make it to spring break: Konplott and bareMinerals (both closed last month); Lucky Brand (opening of a new office in Pike &amp; Rose); and Caché (now in the final stages, when sales have ceased). The fate of the RadioShack store in the shopping centre remains to be seen: The chain, which went bankrupt this week, sold its remaining locations to the one owner. Who won Chopt's donation? Congratulations to Store Reporter reader Eileen Seminara, who won gift cards for salads or sandwiches at Chopt – good at Wildwood Mall or any other place. Stay tuned in store reporter for more upcoming donations. Sponsored content reader favorite: Sedona Salmon Silver Diner at Stephanie Udell Rosenblatt, yoga instructor at Life Time Athletic and other D.C area gyms, is a regular at Silver Diner on Rockville Pike. I love it because kids can get what they want, I get what I want, and they have options for all kinds of special diets, she says. Rosenblatt's go-to dinner is Sedona Salmon ($16.99) with quinoa, artichok, roasted vegetables, tomatoes, onions and coriander topped with lemon-garlic sauce. It's healthy, light and delicious. Want to tell us about your favorite store or restaurant? Click here. Stanford Grill opens Stanford Hill this summer, a massive new restaurant designed on Tower Oaks Boulevard in Rockville, is finally ready to move on after clearing some permissive barriers this week. And it has been reported that promising talent is coming soon: Chef Sean Konishiita, a veteran of award-winning restaurants on both coasts, and CEO Patrick Desotelle Desote D.C On Le Diplomate and Zaytinya. There are plans for a sushi bar, a private bachel, indoor and outdoor seating for more than 300 two and a kitchen that makes everything from scratch. This is another restaurant for Stanford Grill, whose Columbia location has consistently earned positive reviews (click here for more). The doors are expected to open around August. Oil and vinegar from tap in the mall Oil and vinegar tasting shops are officially trending in D.C., where two are already open at Bethesda Row and Pike &amp; Rose. But for those unfamiliar with arbecuinos from their ascolonas, the wide range of bottles can be a little overwhelming. Cleo's Oil Bar opens on April 1 at Westfield Montgomery Mall, which features a winery-like layout just outside the Godiva store. Visitors to the belly up to 5 meters long bar, check out the menu with some flavors to try, then sip their samples in the nearby seating area. Our concept is to demystify this whole thing for people who want to try these products, says Linda Cameron, co-owner of Cleo, who also has a full-size store in Annapolis. We want people to see how much fun and adventurous it can be to combine Blackberry Balsamic with agrumato lime oil on top of field vegetables and goat cheese. Click here to check out Cleo's. It's too late to get Lucky at the mall st. Patrick's Day was a little less lucky on Westfield Montgomery Mall this year: Lucky Brand, a California-based clothing and access company, closed its doors last week in preparation for its new location in North Bethesda. Lucky returns this spring to Pike &amp; Rose; Rose off Montrose and Old Georgetown Road. In the meantime, you can shop at Lucky at nearby stores in Georgetown and Tysons Corner. Feed to win a meal for two at Chopt? This week we hand out gift cards for salads or sandwiches at Chopt, good at wildwood mall location or anywhere else. Click here to enter via email (subject line: Chopt) or click here to enter via Facebook. (If you haven't always liked us on Facebook, be sure to click this button for fresh news updates between thursday's issues.) Update: Eileen Seminara won our Chopt competition. If you were hoping to host your next soirée at the Ikea store in College Park, we have some bad news: This week, a Swedish retailer announced that it would not allow massive hidden games in its showrooms. Ikea fans in the Netherlands and elsewhere had planned such games through Facebook after the company allowed it to take place in one store in Belgium. The event was so successful that others wanted to copy it - tens of thousands of people actually signed up to play in their local stores - until the company almost unfortunately said it's hard to control, an Ikea spokesperson told Bloomberg News. We need to make sure that people are safe in our stores, and that's hard if we don't know where are. Click here to share your favorites – then learn more about someone else's favorites. Nicole Lehtman of Potomac says she's not usually a big pizza fan. But she makes an exception for Pizza CS, which serves Neapolitan-style pies at Rockville's Twinbrook Mall near Fuddrucker's. Lehtman loves margherita with arugula ($12.50), while her husband and children prefer sausage ($11.50). Both are made from flour and other ingredients imported from Italy and cooked in an 850-degree brick oven. Normally, I would never say, 'Let's go for pizza,' says Lehtman, director of the University of California Law Program D.C. But when we first went to Pizza CS, it was so good that I wanted to go back the following week. It's the only pizza I crave. A taste of Italy at Pike &amp; Rose; Amos Anton's Italian restaurant and market has joined the upcoming line-up at Pike &amp; Rose in North Bethesda. This is the second place in the US for Carluccio's, a British company that is about to make its American debut in Alexandria's Old Town. Carluccio's restaurants open early and close late, accompanied by freshly prepared meals and a wide range of groceries imported from Italy. The fast-growing chain has more than 100 locations in the UK and middle east. The timing of Pike &amp; Rose's location is not yet known. But there are specialties on the UK menu, including fish stew with spicy sausage, slow-cooked beef in red wine sauce and green beans with mint and garlic. Rockville's new spa in Rockville is coming up with a new day spa that will transform Potomac Woods Plaza into one natural body space off Montrose and Seven Locks Road. AcuSpa includes an East-meets-West philosophy with services ranging from massage, jalkaology and acupuncture to cosmetic procedures, nail care and traditional Chinese remedies. Owner Danlu Wang-Ross sprucing things shortly before the spa's April 24 opening, but she didn't have to make too many big changes: The space was already equipped with showers, jacuzzis, treatment rooms and other features from a previous resident. Between the two spas, the same store was used for four years by lacy couture, a women's clothing store. Click here if you missed 22.1. Last chance to grab Caché If you're a fan of Caché's women's clothing chain – or more specifically, if you were a fan – now it's time to stop at some last-minute stores. Caché filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in February and had planned to keep some stores running, but that all changed last week, the liquidation company purchased the company's assets. The Westfield Montgomery Mall store has started big discounts on the end of the business. Existing gift cards will be honoured on 5 May, all sales are RadioShack auctions will begin next week on the remains of RadioShack Corp. Cabin John and Rockville Pike stores have both closed their doors in recent weeks with the Westfield Montgomery Mall store still in circulation. GameStop Corp. wants to take over some of the closed locations of its Spring Mobile subsidiary, and there has been talk that Amazon could also be interested. All stores are expected to be closed or on sale by the end of this month. It has a fun atmosphere with a great bar, friendly staff and most importantly good food, he says. Her favorite menu item is Pasta Bolognese ($15). The rich meat sauce is like a taste of heaven from grandma's kitchen. I threw a perfectly cooked short pasta and then finished with a creamy ricotta doll - too bad I have to share with my tablemates! A new seafood market may be coming Up With good news for fresh seafood fans: We hear that a new gourmet seafood market is about to set up shop near the Potomac-Rockville border. The owner, who has many years of experience in the seafood industry, keeps an eye on a location that is convenient for both areas - but not too close to Potomac Village, which already has two gourmet markets of its own. Stay tuned to Store Reporter to learn more when the deal is done. White Flint Mall - finally ready to come down? The owners of White Flint Mall won in federal appeals court this week after a judge ruled against Lord & Taylor's attempt to block the rebuilt property. The department store, which owns its own building and has no plans to leave, is the only tenant left in the once luxurious mall after owner Lerner Enterprises let all other leases expire. Lerner plans to demolish the property and replace it with an open-air combination of retail, restaurants, offices and living space. Lord & Taylor took Lerner to court to force the company to re-lease the mall to the demolitionist. But an appeals court decision last week says the plan was not realistic. The new development project still has some government hurdles to clear, but this week's decision means it is only a matter of time before the wrecking ball arrives. Congratulations to stella barra gift card winner Congratulations to Tammi Cortez, Helaine Shabrin Groeger and Scott Reilly, who each won $25 the new Stella Barra Pizzeria in Pike &amp; Rose. Sponsored Content Costco says goodbye to Amex, hello Visa Just weeks after Costco announced its impending breakup with American Express, Costco has moved on to a new credit card partner. Starting in April 2016, Visa is the only credit card that Costco accepts. Also on the way out is the Costco American Express TrueEarnings card, which will be replaced next year by the co-branded Costco Visa. It's still to be determined whether this new Visa card offers the same level of generous cash-back rewards. Goodbye – again - to Konplott! speaking of goodbye, this week we say goodbye to the second time at Konplott's Westfield Montgomery Mall. The four-year-old store had been the first U.S. location for a European retailer selling designer Miranda Konstantinou's eye-catching row of colorful crystal pieces. This was the second exit for The Conglot in less than a year, as it emptied its store near Macy's last spring, but later resuscitated in the form of a kiosk outside Nordstrom. This time, the outfit seems permanent: Konplott's phone number is no longer in use. I always pick the wet supermarket version and move on to Breadsmith for the real thing. Wiedmaier buys The Tavern in River Falls The prediction we made in last week's issue has come true: Chef Robert Wiedmaier, the man behind Brasserie Beck, Mussel Bar &amp; Grille and Wildwood Kitchen, is expanding his area to Potomac Village. Wiedmaier's RW Restaurant Group has agreed to buy The Tavern in River Falls, which lost its manager last year when Jeff Grolig quit the business and closed its neighbour River Falls Market. (Click here for more information about this story.) In recent months, the restaurant has been run by Grolig's father, a retired firefighter who admits he's been too much. I'm 72 years old, I don't know anything about the restaurant business, and I'm at a point in my life where I can't lose money, Grolig says. Selling this restaurant leaves a hole in our hearts, but it's probably for the best. Staff changes have already begun: The head of Wiedmaier's company started work this week, and the menu will include some updates. But for now, there are no plans to change the name of the restaurant. Win a a Card for the new Stella Barra Pizzeria This week we're presenting three $25 gift cards to Stella Barra Pizzeria, a new addition to pike & rose development in North Bethesda. Only the dinner restaurant serves artisan pies (shaved mushroom with gryuère, anyone?) as well as an extensive beer and wine list. Winners are randomly selected, but you need to be a Store Reporter subscriber to participate. Click here to enter via email (subject line: Stella Barra). I'm 72 years old, I don't know anything about the restaurant business, and I'm at a point in my life where I can't lose money, Grolig says. Selling this restaurant leaves a hole in our hearts, but it's probably for the best. Staff changes have already begun: The head of Wiedmaier's company started work this week, and the menu will include some updates. But for now, there are no plans to change the name of the restaurant. Win a a Card for the new Stella Barra Pizzeria This week we're presenting three $25 gift cards to Stella Barra Pizzeria, a new addition to pike & rose development in North Bethesda. Only the dinner restaurant serves artisan pies (shaved mushroom with gryuère, anyone?) as well as an extensive beer and wine list. Winners are randomly selected, but you need to be a Store Reporter subscriber to participate. Click here to enter via email (subject line: Stella Barra). In recent months, the restaurant has been run by Grolig's father, a retired firefighter who admits he's been too much. opened at 6pm parking lot was packed by 8am. Happy Thanksgiving from Store Reporter! Are you tempted to leave the Thanksgiving table before dessert to get a jump on those Black Friday sales? Many stores - such as Macy's, Target, Kohl's and Sears - are set to take your money tonight at 6pm. Westfield Montgomery Mall also plans to open at 6am, although Nordstrom and some smaller stores won't be joining the party this year. Costco, Home Depot, Barnes & Noble, GameStop or DSW also have no plans to keep their doors closed until Friday morning. Store Reporter also leaves for Thanksgiving. But we'll be back next week with the news after Thanksgiving. Hello, MET Bethesda. In this few pictures from last night's VIP opening to MET Bethesda at Westfield Montgomery Mall. We recommend martinis (30 flavors of tap, we loved strawberry) and delicious Brussels sprout side dish. You can try met-tte yourself when it opens in the next week or two. (Although unfortunately the trio of Audrey Hepburns, pictured here, are long gone.) away.)
